TRACT OF 32 ACRES BOUGHT BY DECATUR TO BE USED LATER AS MUNICIPAL PARK

McCartney Street Property is Bought for a Consideration of $8,000.
IMPROVEMENTS NOT CONTEMPLATED NOW
But City Fathers Are Looking for Future Expansion of Community

A tract of land lying northwest of McCartney street has been purchased from L. O. Stout by the City of Decatur and the municipality plans to later make the area into a park, it was announced today by city officials. The consideration was $8,000.
The tract comprises a fraction more than 32 acres and is only one block from the street car line, five blocks from the business district and three hotels.
Although it is not planned to construct a park on the property immediately, the city fathers are looking into the future and believed that the future expansion of the city would make necessary the provision of a municipal playground within the next few years.
In the near future, however, it is planned to provide one of the best aviation landing fields in the South. A road will be constructed from the business district to the property at an early date, making the property convenient for circus, fairs, athletic field etc.

A creek runs through the property and when it is made into a park it is the intention to dam the stream, near a natural spring, to provide a municipal swimming pool with concrete sides and floor. The spring would furnish a natural water supply, which would enable the pool to have fresh running water through it at all times.
Sections of the tract are well shaded while the entire tract is sufficiently level to furnish an ideal baseball park or football gridiron. The Vanderbilt football team used the property for practice in preparation for the annual Auburn game several years ago.

The road builders have extended the pike from the former limit, several miles outside of Albany, to the railroad crossing at Flint, and will be well beyond that point within the next week.
The highway already has been completed three miles out from Hartselle, extending toward the Twin Cities. Within two months the extension from here and the one from Hartselle will have been joined. LAKE MICHIGAN HOLDS SECRET OF AVIATOR'S FATE

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Lake Michigan today holds the secret of the fate of three naval aviators who left the Great Lakes naval training station last Wednesday in a seaplane. Only an exceedingly forlorn hope remains that the men will be found alive. A report that the broken wing of a seaplane had been thrown up on the beach by the waves near Centerville, Wis., gave further support of the belief that the men have perished.
Officials of the station have not definitely given up hope and it is planned to send out a fleet of seaplanes today, weather permitting, to continue the search.

HOME BREW FATE STILL IN DOUBT AS OFFICIALS DEBATE

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Home brew ingredients may be sold, but such sales must not be under circumstances showing they are to be used for unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor. This interpretation was placed today upon the latest dry law ruling that persons selling home brew products, under circumstances that are held illegal, will be prosecuted.
Commissioner Williams flatly declared that home brewed beer, manufactured in the home for beverage purposes, even though for the sole use of the family and bona fide guests, is illegal, according to the revenue bureau's construction of the Volstead law. It is possible, officials said, for buyers to obtain separately malt syrup, malt extract, hops, yeast, sugar and other ingredients without running counter to the bureau's ruling.

Striped Stockings Jeweled Garters, Are Newest Style

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Nov. 13.—Striped stockings, with jeweled garters just below the knees, will be worn by smart women this fall and winter, according to Miss Isabelle M. Archer, style expert of New York, who spoke at the jewelers' convention.
"Skirts for evening wear," said Miss Archer, "will fall four inches below the knee, but will be lined only to the bend of the knee. The jeweled garter will flash from beneath diaphanous laces. The ankle-watch of last winter will be superseded by the elastic ankle-band, set with gems, preferably diamonds. Stockings will be striped in brilliant, rainbow hues. Striped stockings will also be fashionable for street wear. Skirts will be slightly longer and narrower. They will reach ten or twelve inches from the ground. But this will be short enough to afford a generous glimpse of the gorgeously striped silken hose."
"Watches are of three types—the sautoir, which depends from the necklace; the wrist-watch and the chataleine, suspended from a small brooch at the belt, the brooch and watch matching in metal and jewels.
"As for men," Miss Archer added, "the scarf will continue in vogue, but the jeweled tie-holder will form the completing detail of particularly smart costumes."

PYTHIANS PLANNING ERECTION OF HOME AT AN EARLY DATE

Grand Chancellor Weakley was the principal speaker of the evening and his theme was the proposed Pythian Home to be erected by this order for the widows and orphans of its members.
Judge Troup and Professor Benson responded on behalf of the local lodge and much enthusiasm was aroused and many pledges made for the home.
A systematic plan was worked out to be presented to those members who were not present.

The liner's captain immediately put on full steam and ran his ship into the shoals known as the Bay Ridge Flats.
The collision caused great alarm among the passengers, one of whom jumped overboard. He landed on the deck of another ship nearby.
Tugs hurried to take off the passengers of the Montserrat.

The secretary declared the authorities at Annapolis were getting control of the situation which grew out of discontent among the students over disciplinary measures to prevent hazing.

MR. BRYAN IS CRITICIZED

Mr. Bryan, formerly famous, now only notorious, is still receiving the condemnation of the press following his impertinent suggestion that President Wilson turn over his office to President-elect Harding.

The Nebraskan has been severely criticized by the daily press and now the weeklies, too, are expressing themselves on the subject. An interesting phase of the situation is that many of these criticisms are coming from editors who were former friends of the Commoner.

The following editorials, from the Limestone Democrat and the Colbert County Reporter respectively, indicate desertions from the Bryan camp will be so rapid he will constitute a minority of one, if he continues his reckless opposition to the Democratic party:

The Democrat and its editor have always been warm admirers and supporters of William J. Bryan, but his demand that President Wilson resign and permit Vice-President Marshall to succeed him on the theory that Marshall should appoint Harding secretary of state and then resign immediately so Harding could immediately become president is in such execrable taste, and so wantonly insulting to President Wilson that no fair-minded man can possibly endorse it. Mr. Bryan has been one of the most honored, as well as one of the most maligned democrats of the country, and of all men should readily appreciate the stings that come from ungrateful fellow-democrats. His thrusts at President Wilson, who is as much a casualty of the great war as any other wounded warrior, are unpardonable and have caused too many of Mr. Bryan's warmest friends to deeply regret his uncalled for attack on the greatest democrat since the days of Thomas Jefferson. Aside from being grotesque Mr. Bryan's suggestion, when taken in connection with Mr. Wilson's impaired physical condition, is unjustifiably brutal.

The editor has always been a great admirer of Bryan, but his last eruption when he suggested the resignation of President Wilson and the final seating of President-elect Harding, our admiration and faith in him dropped to zero. Bryan, since he kept his mouth out of the campaign and never turned a hand to help the ticket, has little business or right to butt in now and make such silly and ridiculous proposition. The "peerless" one is evidently in his dotage, or peeved because it wasn't he who went down in defeat with the party.

THE LEAGUE MEETS MONDAY

The first full assembly of the League of Nations will meet Monday in Geneva. Practically every power of any influence, with the exception of Russia, Turkey, Germany and the United States will be represented.

America, for the time being has permitted political expediency to sway her from the path of duty and for the first time in nearly four years, the European nations will gather about the diplomatic table, without the counsel of the United States.

Many interesting problems will come before the council during its session, which is expected to last five weeks. A report will be given of the recent Brussels conferences, making recommendations on international finance. The council also will discuss the economic weapons to be employed against nations breaking the tenets of the League covenant.

The principal question expected to come before the session of the League council is the admission of Germany into the League. France, it is known, is opposed to permitting Germany to become a member of the world tribunal. Friday the political editor of the Echo de Paris, one of the influential and well informed French journals, declared that instructions already have been given the French representatives to withdraw if steps are taken to receive the Hun into the League.

Italy is said to favor the admission of Germany, with Britain inclined to assent and Belgium occupying a position of neutrality. Undoubtedly the "Big Four" will have the final decision on Germany's application. The course they will take may have important influence in determining the future peace of the world and their decision will be watched with interest in America.

It would be a queer trick of fate should Germany be admitted now and later have a vote in determining whether or not the United States shall become a member.

TARPUM IS CORRECT

Newspapers, in the rush of printing a new edition, or several of them, every day make so many mistakes in spelling of even simple words, that The Daily derives considerable pleasure from the fact that it may announce "tarpum" is correctly spelled. Since President-elect Harding went to Point Isabel to spend his vacation and "tarpum" began appearing in news dispatches, The Daily has received more than one inquiry regarding the word.

Many people know the fish as "tarpon."

While having a slight difference in name, both fish are the same. Webster's unabridged dictionary seems to have a preference for "tarpum."

"A tarpon," says Webster, "is a tarpum."

Under the latter heading, Webster says "Tarpum—a very large marine fish of the Southern United States and West Indies. It often becomes 6 or more feet in length and has large silvery scales. The scales are a staple article of trade and are used in fancy work."

VICTOR HUGO'S VANITY

Youth's Companion.

Humor and self criticism, says Professor William Lyon Phelps, go together; a sense of humor is an antidote for conceit. Victor Hugo had no sense of humor, and the complacency with which he looked back upon his career arose from a conceit that was ever more colossal than his genius.

Late in life some of his friends were talking with him, and, of course, about him. One said, "Streets ought to be named after him."

Another remarked, "Streets? Paris ought to change its name and be called Victor Hugo."

Another added scornfully, "Paris? Paris, after such a great man? No, indeed! France ought to change its name, and the whole country be called Victor Hugo."

The great writer then lifted his head and with Jovian dignity spoke in tones of quiet, solemn conviction: "That will come in time."

There will not be enough Democrats in the House to cover the minority representation in the smaller committees unless many members are given places on several committees," says a Washington dispatch. The fact is, about one more such defeat as this one would not leave enough Democrats in the House to organize a baseball team.—Montgomery Advertiser.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair

Armistice day does not celebrate the greatest kind of victory. The victories of PEACE are the really great triumphs. Had those triumphs DUE to have been won, been actually achieved prior to the war there would have been no world war. Had the glories of the victories of peace or spiritual victories such as Martin Luther taught them, not departed from by the German people their false leaders could not have led them into the great war, but think not, that because the war could have been averted, had the attempt have been made in time, that it could have been averted at the time it did break upon the world. Those foolish young people who held high carnival in the Pankhurst office in London, when the British stood for two minutes with bowed heads on Armistice day for the sake of the dead of the great war, seemed to treat that great conflict and its heroes with too much levity; and if "reprisals" are ever in order, the reported "trouncing" given those youths by certain English women were not at all amiss.

Why IS it we cannot win the victories of peace and thus prevent the horrors of war? Was such a course foreordained? Yes and No. "Yes" in that God gave us free wills to be and do wrong without end, or to seek His power and be strong and good with out end. "No" in that God could never be such a monster as to have foreordained war, or any other evil thing. Why, again, cannot we win peace victories? Because we will not put FIRST things FIRST. We do not obey the Bible injunction: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness." But you say, "Yes we do seek first the Kingdom of God! We are anxious above all things to come into His kingdom." Answer: "Yes it does seem true that you DO seek God's kingdom; but you seek it 'for your own use 'too much.' You are anxious to get into it out of the 'burning,' you seek it for your own sake, instead of God's glory. Along with this train of thoughts, occurs this one: Some are quoting that God pronounced every thing very good that He made, and are arguing therefrom, that therefore there cannot be any evil. The error in such a conclusion arises from the fact that you overlook the fact that God doubtless meant when He said that every thing was "good," that it was "good for HIS PURPOSES; and not just "good" in a finite conception. God seems to want to give us a chance to "Overcome evil with good." In fact it seems He has commanded just that thing.

It is granted, you are seeking to enter God's kingdom, but are you seeking God's kind of RIGHTeousNESS? Whenever the children of this earth, seek divine righteousness, by a kind of "mass action" so to speak, war will pass away just like cannibalism has passed away. In the mean time, i. e. until the majority, so to speak are willing to have peace in their hearts, that same majority must be waged against by those who are the true soldiers of the Cross. Stated in another way, until the CAUSES of wars and conflicts pass away, it is foolish to talk about living in an entirely peaceable world or in an entirely peaceable community. You must have the peace of justice, not only in your own heart, but also your neighbor must have the PEACE of JUSTICE in his heart. Just as surely as it takes more than one to make a quarrel, just so surely does it take MORE THAN ONE TO MAKE PEACE. If you doubt this, recall how Christ while on earth was absolutely peaceable yet He said very hard things against such people as the Scribes and Pharisees, and although they put Him to death, it was not until He had told them the truth as to their real character. "Woe unto you," says the Bible, "when all men speak well of you"; and it is just as true to say woe unto you when you speak well of every body—at least for a while, at least we can so speak truthfully until we all do well, or at least a good deal better than in the past.

New Ray of Hope For Tom Mooney

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—A new ray of hope for Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, serving life sentences for alleged participation in the Preparedness Day explosion here, which cost ten lives, penetrated San Quentin prison today when Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of Tom Mooney, visited the prison with the news that Draper Hand, a policeman, active in the prosecution, had told Mayor Rolph the case against them was a "frame-up." The story of Officer Hand involved the testimony of three of the chief witnesses in the Mooney and Billings trials.

'Nortner' Maroons Senator Harding

(International News Service)
POINT ISABEL, Texas, Nov. 13.—President-elect Harding is marooned on this extreme southern point today. A three-day north gale and a driving rain has made fishing impossible and roads impassable. The senator took occasion of the inclement weather today to work for a time on the speech which he delivers in New Orleans at a chamber of commerce luncheon on November 18, a few hours before he sails for Panama.

YALE BULLDOG MEETS TIGER IN PRINCETON LAIR TO-DAY

Immense Crowd Surrounds Orange and Black Gridiron to See Eli's in First Major Test of Season—Both Eleven son Edge for Struggle.

By JACK VEIOCK
(International News Sporting Editor)
PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—The Bulldog will jump at the throat of the Tiger in Palmer Stadium here today.

The invader from New Haven, eager to uphold Yale traditions, is keen for action and as Princeton's eleven has been especially pointed for the contest there is promise that the battle will develop something akin to a menagerie gone Bolshevik.

The Yale-Princeton game, the first really big game for the Elis, is the outstanding feature on today's football schedule and Princeton's big oval will be filled with enthusiastic rooters. Indications are that a crowd of 35,000 will witness the contest.

Coach Tad Jones and his assistants at New Haven have spent the entire season preparing for today's game and the annual battle with Harvard, which comes a week from today. Early in the season Yale's hopes of winning these games were dropped into the depths when Boston College trimmed the Bulldogs, but since that time Yale has shown wonderful improvement and if the comparative scores of the Yale-West Virginia and Princeton-West Virginia games can be taken as an indication of what may be expected today, Yale will give a good account of herself. The Bulldogs rolled the Mountaineers back by a score of 24 to 0. Princeton was forced to fight to a finish to trim the same team 10 to 3, and only managed to accomplish this in the last quarter. Naturally enough, Yale supporters are pointing to these scores as significant, and what will happen on the lime-lined field inside Palmer Stadium this afternoon can only be guessed at.

EMMA BUNTING COMING MONDAY NIGHT IN "THE GIRL IN THE LIMOUSINE"

One more romp over the bed, into the bed, under the bed, with incidental excursions into chest, closet and out upon the veranda. As usual the rompers include the pair that should not be paired; the pair that has never been paired in spite of suspicious circumstances; the variously and needlessly jealous, and angry; the intruding, perturbed and aggressive matron; the man subject to delusions of eye and tongue, the other comers and speers at odd moments through my lady's chamber. By no means as usual the piece lays on broad humor with a light touch, runs in unflagging high spirits, picks up a new comic device or two and takes breath now and then in chatter, hardly so guileless as it sounds. "The Girl in the Limousine" is the title of the farce in which all this happens and the company which will present it under the direction of A. H. Woods, and is headed by the inimitable Emma Bunting. Miss Bunting will be remembered for her very clever work in "Scandal."

The Allies had three airplanes to every one for Germany at the time of the armistice.

"I DARE YOU"

"To hold a lighted match to that cotton," was what one small boy said to another when they were playing about some bales of cotton. "I never took a dare in my life," was the reply. So the match went to the cotton, it was not insured, and the owner of the bales and his creditors know the rest.

If you have cotton, don't wait till tomorrow to insure, tonight may be ITS time to burn.

MRS. R. W. COWART COMPLIMENTED
 Friday afternoon, November 12, between the hours of 3 and 5 Mrs. O. Kyle and Mrs. S. M. Tompson received at the home of the latter in especial compliment to Mrs. R. W. Cowart. The entire reception suite of the spacious Tompson home was beautifully decorated for this event, an elaborate motif in pink, yellow and white being effectively adhered to throughout the reception hall, living and dining rooms. In the reception hall from which the winding stair leads, yellow chrysanthemums, potted plants, autumn leaves and southern smilax were arranged with exquisite taste on library table and desk, while the balustrade was entwined with smilax and autumn leaves. Yellow shaded tapers in graduated mahogany candle sticks on library table and desk shed their soft light and a frieze of autumn leaves completed the floral decorations in this room. The living room, in which the receiving line stood, was adorned by a profuse array of pink and white chrysanthemums in swinging baskets. The mantel and fireplace in this room was banked with baby breath ferns interspersed with pink Columbia rose buds. The color motif, pink and white, was strictly adhered to in the dining room, where the mahogany tulle-draped table was centered by cluney cloth and silver basket of Columbia roses. The mantel was banked with magnolia foliage, silver baskets held nodding pink roses on buffet and china cabinet. Pink shaded silver candleabra held lighted tapers, pink and white mints in tiny silver dishes on tiny cluney doilies completed the table decoration from which coffee was served.

Mrs. E. C. Payne and Mrs. L. A. Neill welcomed the incoming guests and little Mary Kate Troup presented a silver tray for the cards at the door of the reception hall. The receiving line was composed of Mesdames S. M. Thompson, O. Kyle, R. W. Cowart, J. Chafin, E. W. Godbey and A. J. Harris. Mrs. H. T. Gill and Mrs. Seneca Burr invited the guests into the dining room, presided over by Mrs. T. A. Bowles, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Williams, Misses Marjorie Miller and Polly Robinson, where pink and white ices and coffee, nuts and bon bons were served. Mrs. W. R. Smith and Mrs. A. E. Humphrey invited the guests to the cloak room just preceding their departure. Mrs. Thompson was especially attractive in an elegant black velvet gown with touches of white. Mrs. Kyle was gracious in blue taffeta with silver trimmings. Mrs. Cowart wore a tulle-trimmed gown of orchid georgette handsomely embroidered with black beads. Mrs. Chafin was attired in a combination frock of brocade satin. Mrs. Godbey in a black afternoon gown featuring the beaded embroidery. Mrs. Harris wore a handsome black gown. Little Mary Kate Troup's was a trifle of yellow organdie.

About a hundred guests called between the hours of 3 and 5.

ENJOYABLE BIRTHDAY DINNER
 Miss Sophia Walk was most pleasantly surprised last evening at her home on Tower avenue by her relatives and a few close friends, the occasion being her birth anniversary. Quantities of chrysanthemums and potted ferns were effectively used in the decoration of the home. Covers were laid for twelve and a three-course menu served from the attractively decorated table, which had for the central ornament a large birthday cake, lighted with waxen tapers, one for each year. Just before the dinner was served the honoree was showered with many useful presents. A theater party at the Masonic was enjoyed.

Mrs. Louis A. Neill will leave early Tuesday morning for Montgomery to attend the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs, Tuesday at noon Mrs. Neill will be a guest of Mrs. J. Brevard Jones at luncheon. Tuesday evening she will be one of the guests of honor at a brilliant reception at the Gay Teague Hotel. Among other numerous social events of the week will be a reception at the Governor's Mansion, with Mrs. Kilby, wife of Governor Kilby, as hostess. Mrs. Neill will return Friday night.

BUNKOM PARTY
 Little Katherine Smith was hostess last night to ten of her little friends with a Bunkom party at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. W. T. Seamans, on Johnson street.

The features of amusement for the evening were music, games and telling ghost stories around the huge fireplace. At a late hour a tempting midnight feast was served by the hostess, mother, Mrs. Fred W. Smith, and Mrs. W. T. Seamans. Next morning a delightful breakfast was enjoyed.

Those enjoying this party were Louise Britton, Alma Hartung, Sarah Blackwell, Louise Hodges, Christine Worley, Maxie Speake, Louise Almon, Mildred Bell, Roberta Winton and Geneva Eubanks.

Miss Allie Force of Athens, Tenn., is the guest of Miss Mary Penick.

Mrs. G. W. Mullhous of Anniston, Ala., returned home yesterday after a visit to her sister, Mrs. G. M. Goodman.

The Missionary Society of Westminster Presbyterian church will have an all-day meeting Monday, beginning at 10:30 a. m., with Mrs. E. C. Payne as hostess.

Mrs. E. W. Godbey and Mrs. Ralph W. Cowart will entertain jointly at a bridge luncheon Friday at one o'clock Terrace Place.

Another King Who is About to Lose His Crown,

OLD TALE RETOLD

Origin of the American Thanksgiving Day.

Will Bear Repetition Annually as Something of Which Every Citizen May Be Proud.

The ancient Thanksgiving did not, as some have fancied, skip down the ages to find its home in America. In one way or another it seems to have always been observed. Throughout Europe, before the Reformation, special days were set apart as days of religious thanksgiving. The American Thanksgiving day is traced back to the Pilgrims.

Shortly after the landing of the Pilgrims, while searching for a suitable place in which to build their homes, they one day came upon some deserted Indian huts, in which they found some baskets filled with corn. From this supply they succeeded in saving enough to plant their first year's crop.

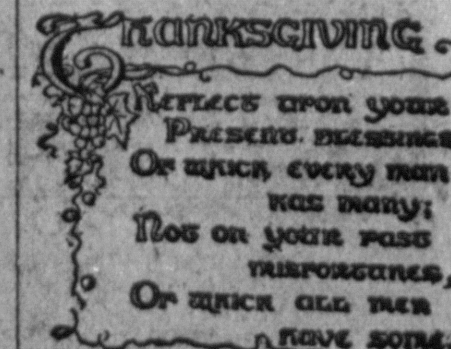

In the spring of 1621 the seed corn was sown and its growing watched anxiously by the people of the little colony. To their great joy, the harvest of the following October was a bountiful one. Governor Bradford ordered a three days' feast in celebration thereof. Wild turkeys, geese, ducks and water fowl, corn bread and vegetables no doubt formed the chief constituents of their feast, not to speak of the five deer brought in by a tribe of friendly Indians.

This festival is supposed to be the first real Thanksgiving day from which we date our celebration. This celebration, although without doubt the origin of our national Thanksgiving day, may be looked upon as merely a local observance, being held by the Plymouth colony only. They were the forerunners of less local celebrations in Massachusetts and gradually in other colonies, for in 1630 a public Thanksgiving day was observed in Boston by the Bay colony, and again in 1631.

During the next fifty years there were as many as 22 public Thanksgiving days appointed in Massachusetts, usually in October or November, after the gathering in of the harvest, or to celebrate some public benefit. It did not become a regular holiday until a long time afterward.

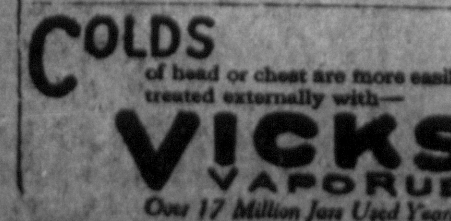

In 1789 Washington issued the famous Thanksgiving proclamation recommending Thursday, November 26, as a national day to be devoted to prayer and Thanksgiving. Washington's example was followed by other Presidents.

In 1863 President Lincoln appointed the fourth Thursday in November as the national Thanksgiving day. Since then the day has been observed annually without interruption.

A Day of Nature.

Thanksgiving day is our one national festival that turns on home life. It is not a day of ecclesiastical splendor. It is not a patriotic anniversary. It is not a day celebrating a religious event. It is a day of nature. It is a day of thanksgiving for the year's history. And it must pivot on the household. . . . Remember God's bounty brought the year. String the pearls of His goodness. Give this one day to thanks, to joy, to gratitude. Henry Ward Beecher.

DENIES CHARGE THAT FEMINISM IS "COMMUNISM IN DISGUISE"

Madeline Z. Doty and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence Take Issue with Dr. Gustave Le Bon in His Assertions That Home Life Is Endangered by Feminism Doctrines—"Couldn't Be More Wrong," They Say.

Written for the International News Service

By MARGERY REX

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Beside the bright green door at No. 112 Waverly place two cards flank the bell. On one is engraved "Roger Baldwin." "Madeline Z. Doty," the other bit of paste-board announces.

And by these signs shall you know them—the ultra-modern husband and wife, whose love is no less deep and whose home is none the less well established because of the fact that the feminist wants more identification in her world than the "and Mrs." that her careless husband would scrawl on the hotel registers of the present day, if he'd let him.

And to the apartment of this well-known feminist and writer, Madeline Z. Doty, we had come in search of comfort and information. We showed Miss Doty an article by one Dr. Gustave Le Bon, member of the French Academy and also member of the Institute of France. The reckless cadence fired off several sharp shots at woman and her doings these days, some few of which we quote below.

Feminism is a danger to women, says the French psychologist, and nothing but communism in disguise; something that will kill home life and endanger all love, particularly the maternal instinct.

What Frenchman Says

In their absurdly outrageous fight or their "rights" women do not see that they have more to lose than to gain by winning these "rights," says Dr. Le Bon.

"They say, 'Vive la feminism,' but what is 'feminism'? They do not know. But I do. It is communism—nothing more, nothing less! It is the gospel of free union. Show them once what this feminism really is and not a suffragist would be left.

"Marriage was instituted for one purpose—to oblige the man to concentrate his entire life to one woman.

"Do they want to turn back the leaves of the centuries to the days when they were like cattle in the scheme of things? No; certainly not; but it is precisely there that feminism leads.

"What says the code? 'The man must aid and protect his woman.' When the woman shall be the absolute equal of the man she will certainly no longer be entitled to aid and protection; therefore, since marriage is for this purpose alone there will be no more marriage.

"What will happen? The woman will find herself abandoned, and there will ensue again the time of irreparable outrage."

Apartment of Feminist

We wondered if the good Dr. Le Bon had ever been in a feminist's apartment. Miss Doty's dwelling place is the top floor of an old house. The north light that enters the two windows of her living room touches rows of open book shelves, the edges of the fireplace, a soft-toned rug, deep cushioned couches and some bits of old mahogany. And upon entering we spied a neat little front room hung with pots and pans. The feminist's kitchen is, in a most significant position at the very front of the home.

Miss Doty announced that she expected Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, the noted English suffragist and co-worker of Mrs. Pankhurst. So we knew that the foolhardy doctor of the academy would be well routed before our visit ended.

Says Le Bon Is Wrong

"Dr. Le Bon couldn't be any more wrong than he is," began Miss Doty. "He has failed to grasp the meaning of feminism.

"First of all it means a wide economic independence for women. The problem before women is how to reconcile this to home life. I believe in the institution of the home. The future may bring different sorts of homes, but we all must have a place for social life, a spot in which to be alone and in which to have one's friends, not necessarily apart from the husband's companions.

"When my husband and I don't agree on one of his friends or on one of mine, the verdict is: 'Ask him—or her—the night I'm out.'

"Married or single, one wants a home. "But how is a woman to have it and at the same time keep her economic independence? How shall she work away from her home and care for it, too?

Put Value on Housework

"I consider now that I have two jobs—my outside work and that of caring for my household. Both must be run on a business basis, and it would kill any woman to run both efficiently.

"Therefore housework ought to have an economic value. Let people pay well for home-keeping instead of setting it aside with sentimental ex-uses for its neglect.

"I share all with my wife, a man will tell you. "That may be very well in the case of a rich man, but what of the poor wife who gets thereby exactly nothing?

"Suppose a woman is a wonderful housekeeper. Her husband earns $25 a week. If she did housekeeping for a millionaire—as a paid worker—what she is doing in her own home she could get $5000 a year. It's the same job exactly, but has no definite value in her own home, where it is not respected as a profession.

"The strike of domestics has been a good thing for all women. It has taught men what women's work is worth in keeping homes up to a decent standard. Men will appreciate their wives' excellent services more from now on.

"In my case I would be willing to pay a woman now to be 'wife' to me—for my household—so I could earn my own living in a line that is recognized."

Finds Boy Asleep in Church With Bible for Pillow

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Nov. 13.—Because he was tired and hungry John Folds, a negro boy 17 years old, went to church one night recently and remained to sleep, he told the police. But John picked out the Westminster Presbyterian church, in Ponce de Leon avenue, and finding the door closed broke thru the window. He was charged with burglary.

The church janitor found John peacefully sleeping on the rostrum, using a Bible for a pillow and the altar cloth for blankets. Tightly clutched in his right hand was a monkey wrench. Call Officers Anderson and Newport arrested him.

A Beleschistan physician is required to take a dose of whatever medicine he prescribes.

Hill, of Route 1, this place, says: "When the children get bilious, I give them a couple of good doses, and when we have sour stomach, headache, or any liver or stomach trouble, we use Black-Draught. HUNTSVILLE GETS 'SWEET REVENGE' WHIPPING ALBANY HI ELEVEN 13 TO 0

Two Touchdowns Are Made in the First Half by the Visitors.

LOCAL SQUAD SEEMS TO SUFFER STAGE FRIGHT

Referee's Decision Costs Purple and Gold an Opportunity to Score.

Huntsville obtained sweet revenge for last year's defeat by playing Albany high's eleven completely off its feet here Friday afternoon, scoring a 13 to 0 victory over the Purple and Gold. After the first half the locals held the fast Huntsville backs, but were unable to score themselves. Tarpey almost got away for a touchdown in the last few minutes of play, when he slipped through the Huntsville line for a 40-yard run before being halted.

Albany went down in defeat, but the members of the team may obtain consolation from the fact that a decision of Referee Scott probably cost them one touchdown. Carrying the ball to Huntsville's territory, the Albany team was driving in high. Huntsville tried a forward pass which was intercepted by Miles. The decision of the referee gave the ball to Huntsville when Miles was tackled, fumbled and recovered. Had Albany not been the victim of a rather heartless decision, to say the least, a very bright opportunity would have been presented to score. As it was, it was easy for Huntsville to make first down and take the ball back into the middle of the field.

Stage Fright

As has been the case in other games played here, the Albany eleven suffered from stage fright, or some other malady which cost them two touchdowns before the Purple and Gold really began to fight.

Albany kicked off and Huntsville began a steady march up the field which carried the ball across, in the arms of Price, within the first three minutes of play.

Not content with one performance, the show was repeated, Stevens bucking his way over the line in the second quarter.

Albany had one chance to kick the ball out of danger in the first quarter, but Ezell's attempted kick, in the face of a strong wind, was blocked behind the line of scrimmage.

Huntsville gained almost two yards to the local's one, but was held for downs when inside Albany's ten-yard line in the fourth quarter, with four downs to make the distance.

Penalties were few, one for five yards being placed on the Purple and Gold for offside.

Huntsville was not forced to kick, her goal being in danger on but one occasion. Thanks to a very kind decision of the arbiter, the goal was not endangered long then.

He played a losing game, but McAbee, Albany center, was the individual star of the game. On the offense he did his bit in every play. On the defense he did practically half of the Albany tackling. He seemed to possess a happy knack of diagnosing the play before it was well started and he smeared them on both sides of the line. A few more McAbees and it would be a sad world for Purple and Gold opponents.

The line-ups follow:

Albany	Huntsville
Ezell	London
Thomas	Right End
Thompson	Right Tackle
McAbee	Right Guard
Wilson	Center
Carroll	Left Guard
Humphrey	Quarter
Miles	Right Half
Tarpey	Full Back
	Left Half
Epstein	Albany: Humphrey
for Thompson, Thompson for Thompson, Tuck for Ezell.

Shippers of Fruits and Vegetables Are Advised to Learn Market Likes and Dislikes.

Any intelligent attempt to better marketing conditions must be based on a good working knowledge of present agencies and their functions. The nearer that both producer and consumer can come to an understanding and appreciation of the work devolving upon the distributor, the nearer will Americans approach a solution of many of the problems incident to the movement of fruits and vegetables.

The shipper who has definite knowledge of the course his goods will take when they reach a big market has a great advantage over the man who has no idea of methods of distribution. He can safeguard his interests by retaining a measure of control over his product after it reaches destination.

Shippers or prospective shippers of fruits and vegetables are advised to get in touch with their principal market, learn its likes, dislikes, and peculiarities, study the means whereby their goods are distributed to consumers, and secure a working knowledge of the chief problems incident to the handling of their commodities.

PRINCIPLES OF BOOKKEEPING

First and Most Important Step Toward Establishing Accounting System for Farm.

Getting a knowledge of accounting principles is the first and most important step toward establishing an accounting system suited to one's individual needs. There are many degrees in farm accounting, from the simple to the extended and complex. Farmers' Bulletin 511, copies of which may be had upon request of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, contains an outline of the principles of simple farm bookkeeping.

Speaking and Listening.

A great deal has been written on the art of speaking; but a treatise on the art of listening would be more valuable. There are plenty of good talkers in society, but good listeners are rare. Carlyle's discourses, preached in so many volumes, with sad earnestness, on the text "Silence is Golden," have borne thus far but little fruit. A Frenchman once said of a gentleman in company, in whom he could detect no other quality worthy of a compliment, that he had "a great talent for silence." This apparent equivocal was a real compliment, for of all gifts one of the very rarest is that self-control which enables one to hold his tongue. Few persons have reflected how difficult it is to command that attention and concentration which constitute a good listener. It requires not only high moral but also rare intellectual qualities. It is not, as one is apt to suppose, a merely passive state.—William Matthews.

YEARS OF STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLE

Had three operations and was all run down. Newspaper ad guided her back to health.

"I suffered from stomach and bowel trouble in the worst form for a long time. I went through three serious operations and doctored all the time, but found nothing that would do me any good. On seeing Milk's Emulsion advertised in the daily papers I decided to try it. The first three doses relieved me, and I am now on the 4th bottle, and can say I have never taken any medicine that has done me so much good. I am feeling better than I ever did since my operations. I am gaining in health and flesh rapidly. I now weigh 148 lbs."—Mrs. Hattie Sharpe, 1016 Ridge St., Keokuk, Ia.

Thousands of sufferers from catarrh of the stomach, indigestion and bowel troubles, have found that Milk's Emulsion gives prompt relief and real lasting benefit. Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

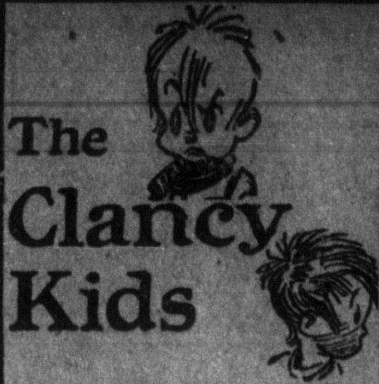

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the result, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

GET DRINK FROM FLOWERS

Natives of India Distill Valuable Spirit From Mowra Tree—Seeds Also Yield Oil.

The flowers of the "mowra" tree, native to India, are highly valued for food. They are rich in sugar, and an intoxicating drink is distilled from them. A syrup prepared from them is boiled down, yielding a sugar equal in quality to date sugar.

In the central provinces of India mowra flowers are regularly used as an article of food by at least 1,000,000 people, each person consuming about eighty pounds per annum. Through out that country they are looked upon as a valuable reserve in famine years. Their fleshy, juicy, globe-shaped corollas are collected when they have fallen, and are spread out to dry on mats in the sun. A single tree will yield 200 to 300 pounds of flowers in a year. They are eaten either fresh or dried, and cooked in many different ways, with rice, shredded coconut or flour.

The bulk of the crop of flowers, however, is used for the preparation of "daru," or mowra spirit. They are fermented, sometimes with molasses added, and the liquor is then distilled in crude apparatus. With good distilling apparatus, 100 pounds of the flowers will yield five and one-half gallons of proof spirit.

It is estimated that in the Hyderabad state alone there are enough mowra trees to produce 700,000 gallons of proof spirit per annum. The seeds yield an oil which is largely utilized in the manufacture of soap, candles and imitation butter.

Oysters are best when about five years old, but they live until twenty years old.

WHERE KING ARTHUR LANDED

Tintagel, on the North Coast of Cornwall, Figures in Tennyson's Famous Poem.

Everyone who has read the legends of King Arthur, or who has conned Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," wishes to see Tintagel, that place in the north coast of Cornwall so deeply implicated in the Arthurian legend. The legend of Tintagel is that Arthur came ashore from the sea in storm and flame, a story excellently well suited to the Cornish love of marvels.

The place generally known to tourists in Cornwall as Tintagel is in fact the village of Trevena, and Tintagel itself is the ruined castle and headland, solitary, beyond it and beyond the wind-swept church where the gray-green lichens grow long on the granite.

The headland of Tintagel, dark and craggy and almost wholly separated from the mainland, is said to take its name from "Dun-dagel," the "safe fortress," famous from earliest times as a place for retreat and defense. On all such rock fastnesses the primitive peoples who inhabited their coast-line created what are known as "cliff-castles." You see this remarkable place best from its eastern side, and from the sands below the slaty cliffs. From this point of view the great gloomy cavern eaten out by the sea in the headland, some day completely to surround it, can be clearly seen.—Christian Science Monitor.

The manufacture of pistols by machinery was first introduced in England from the United States in 1853 by Colonel Colt, inventor of the revolver.
